District of Columbia

Elizabeth Cuttner is an associate with Cinnamon Mueller. Ms. Cuttner has several years of experience with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) working on broadband and video matters, including merger reviews. Ms. Cuttner is also knowledgeable in several areas of telecommunications policy, including broadcast, cable programming, copyright, and spectrum policy.

Practice Overview

In addition to advising individual clients on regulatory strategy and compliance matters, Ms. Cuttner is assisting with the representation of the American Cable Association before the FCC and other agencies on a range of advocacy issues, including retransmission consent reform, media ownership, disabilities access, and broadband regulation.

Personal History

Ms. Cuttner has been surrounded by cable her entire life – her father’s work in cable programming influenced her own interests in communications law. Prior to working at Cinnamon Mueller, Ms. Cuttner worked at the FCC in the Office of General Counsel, where she assisted in the Commission’s review of recent cable transactions. In addition, she has interned with a media trade association and worked on FCC filings concerning broadcast industry issues and served as Judicial Extern with the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Louisiana. Prior to law school, Ms. Cuttner worked with other programming, regulatory, and non-profit groups in the communications industry.

Ms. Cuttner is the first graduate of the dual degree J.D./M.M.C. program at Louisiana State University. During law school, she was a member of the Louisiana Law Review, serving as Online Editor. She is an active member of the Federal Communications Bar Association in DC.
